MULTIVERSES & ME

Directions: Imagine there are parallel universes. In each universe, a version of yourself exists, but this self is capable of making her/his own unique decisions.

Think of a big decision that you once made. What were your options?
What did you choose?

Now imagine that each version of yourself made a different decision. The decisions could have been only slightly different from one another or they may have contrasted starkly. In the center circle below, demonstrate the decision you actually made. Then, imagine and illustrate four alternate options you could have chosen in parallel universes. You may write, sketch or draw comics to show your decision in each bubble.
